

Are you thinking of a destination for the bachelorette party but you can not find ideas?

I'm happy to tell you that you're in place at the right time in June. I will show you some of the best for a bachelorette party, so that you can live 100% last maiden hours. Start reading your friends, in a few minutes a valuable list of locations on which you can think together. If you are ready we can do it right away.

Destinations for hen parties in Sicily

Sea, history, culture, cuisine. Sicily offers some of the most beautiful hen party destinations. My idea is to have a sea, the first idea I can remember is an unforgettable day on the sea of the Egadi islands, off the coast between Trapani and Marsala. For the organization, which are occupied with the preparation of an original party and which in many future futures they dream of doing.

Do you love Sicilian cuisine and, in particular, its wines? I propose you a hen party in Marsala, during the day you can taste the sublime products of the many wineries in the city that overlook the spectacular Egadi islands. Imagine being there, when the sun is setting, along with beautiful friends, holding a glass of wine, ready to look back for the stage of life to start an even more intense.

What do you think of a bachelorette party in the name of personal care and, more generally, of beauty in the literal sense? You accept positively, leaving you in a bachelorette party, maybe different from others, less shiny, but no less beautiful. Relaxation, wellness, beauty, what more could you want from your party with which you always greet the scapula status? If, on the contrary, you want to experience this moment to the full, you do not need anything but a huge pool and a dream villa. Several Sicilian girls, about to get married, choose a destination to enjoy the last remnants of maiden.

In fact, Sicily is a perfect destination for those who have the ball of the most popular places for young people during the summer. Ask your friends to look for a villa that can be as special as you are, that deserves to have a truly unforgettable day, without thoughts, where in the center there is only you.

Destinations for hen parties in Italy and abroad

For worldliness and fun, the city of Milan is one of the best hen party destinations in Italy that I can recommend. The most European of all Italian cities, choosing Milan means choosing the top among all the destinations available in Italy and elsewhere.

If you've always dreamed of Spain instead, I suggest you organize a chilling party in Tenerife with your friends. Here you can lull yourself into the waves of the sea that surrounds the Spanish island, where the climate is exceptional throughout the year, making this ideal destination for a bachelorette party during every season, both in winter and in summer. Compared to the inflated Ibiza, last year conquered by Chiara Ferragni and her friends, Tenerife offers perhaps less local. On the other hand, the island off the coast of Morocco offers a sense of greater freedom. Here you can also redeem your eyes, innocently, admiring the hundreds of surfers who ride the rippled waves of the island's coastline every day. In short, Tenerife top.

Do you want to feel even more free? Then the destination that I propose is Amsterdam, notoriously famous for being a city that never sleeps. In addition to nightclubs where you can have fun with your friends until late, Amsterdam gives anyone who visits the atmosphere a unique thanks to its channels, which are able to return an exceptional view in the evening.

Finally, if you intend to do the general rehearsals of the wedding and enter the princess mood, give yourself a weekend in London with your best friends, on the trail of Hugh Grant and the fascinating London Eye, without forgetting a virtual selfie with Queen Elizabeth, receiving from His Majesty the solemn blessing.

Which of the goals for the bachelor party do you think are better suited to your character? Did you find the destination of your dreams? Let me know what you think, you can contact me for any doubt.